

So long as we love, we serve. So long as we are loved by others, I would almost say we are indispensable; and no man is useless while he has a friend.

The Logan Republican.

In a year from now, when you look back over 1915, may it prove to have been the best and most profitable year that you have ever had, is the wish of The Logan Republican.

EIGHT PAGES

LOGAN, CACHE COUNTY, UTAH

THURSDAY MARCH 18 1915

THIRTEENTH YEAR

WHAT AN OBSERVER GETS FROM A MONTH'S TRIP TO THE COAST

Many Wonderful Sights at Los Angeles, San Diego, Venice and San Francisco. Utah People Visiting in California. Story Told by Loganite in a Most Interesting Way.

(Special to The Logan Republican)

San Francisco, Cal., March 15. After a month's sojourn in California visiting the fairs, beaches, and other points of interest, I am, according to our engagement which was duly signed, witnessed and sealed, when I last saw you, going to write of such incidents and impressions during my trip, as may be of interest to your worthy readers.

Leaving Salt Lake in the early part of February we reached Los Angeles via Salt Lake Route after thirty hours ride. The weather was bad, raining about half of our ten days stay; nevertheless all the vegetation was green, some of the trees were in bloom and the mantle of spring was upon the entire country all of which was a change and more pleasant than the snow and zero weather which we left in Utah.

Los Angeles at Its Best

Los Angeles is a hustling, bustling city claiming a half million inhabitants and endeavoring to annex every city adjoining her. In the business district the buildings are high and the streets are narrow, well paved and so crowded that one takes his life in his own hands every time he attempts to cross. The "Jitneys" have made conditions worse and plans are now preparing for a twenty million dollar subway which will soon be under way. You know, if the people of Los Angeles want anything in the way of public improvements they just bond and build it. They have bonded for a twenty-five million dollar water system and for almost every other kind of improvement and the astonishing thing about it is that their taxes are less than in most places in Utah. In the residence districts the homes are beautiful and well kept and for the most part they are of bungalow architecture. The streets are wide and paved, principally with asphalt but there is a tendency towards concrete on streets where steeper slopes or grade obtain. After visiting the points of most interest in Los Angeles, consisting of banks, ostrich and alligator farms, etc., we went to the beaches.

Utahns Visit Coast

At Long Beach we found Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Hallstone who were enjoying themselves immensely. We also saw a son of President Merrill of Richmond who is doing missionary work with credit to himself, his church and his parents. At Ocean Park and Venice the real watering places of Southern California there were many Utah people among whom were the Nebekers, Thains, Humphreys, Job Smith, Bairs, Prices, and William Wyatt all of Cache Valley. With the hundreds of others from all parts of the United States, they were just enjoying themselves bathing in the ocean, drinking in the ocean breeze and lounging about on the warm sandy beach by day and attending the various attractions at Venice during the evenings.

Many Attractions at Venice

Venice affords more amusement than any of the other beaches. At this time the great Barnum shows are wintering there and give daily exhibitions of their methods of training lions, tigers and leopards. The exhibitions are good and far surpass anything for thrill which is seen in any of the circuses, for the reason that the animals are only partially tamed and are yet vicious. About a week prior to our visit a great storm came up which wrecked the wharves and about carried away the pliers supporting the temporary cages and liberating about fifty vicious lions and tigers. The storm destroyed a million dollars worth of property or more and a week later an agitation was started and the machinery set in motion to bond for money with which to build a sea wall to prevent a repetition of the damage done by the storm and so it is that they get money for any necessary improvement.

About the Fair City

After leaving Los Angeles we went to San Diego. San Diego is a city about the size of Salt Lake and is built much along the same lines except that the residence district is farther from the main business district. The streets are wide and fairly well paved. The climate is superb and the people are beyond question the most obliging, hospitable than we will ordinarily meet. They possess that faculty of making one feel that he is their guest the moment he enters their city. During our stay the temperature ranged from 50 to 70 degrees. It is said that San Diego has more clear days and possesses the second best climate in the world and from our short stay we are inclined to the belief that perhaps the claim is well founded. There is something about the climate which is soothing and gives one contentment and a desire to take and enjoy things as they come. The fair at San Diego is unique and afforded us more real pleasure than any place which we have visited to date. The grounds are beautiful beyond description; the buildings are substantial and beautiful and the exhibits are among the finest that can be produced. The promoters of the San Diego fair have endeavored to make an exhibit which is truly representative of the sections and countries which have participated without commercialization. In this they have succeeded absolutely and any person going to California and misses the San Diego fair has missed one of the best features of the entire trip. Utah has a large and handsome building and a very creditable exhibit. The relief map of Utah prepared at the Agricultural College and exhibited at the Utah building ranks with the best in the entire fair. The exhibit made of the various tribes of American Indians setting forth their habits, mode of living and wares is most interesting and perhaps the best ever made. The outdoor pipe organ ranks with the best in the world. The model farm, Indian village and the model of the Panama canal are all great features and their seeing is well worth the time and money expended in going to San Diego to see nothing of the thousands of other exhibits which space will not permit of my mentioning. It should also be said that the people of San Diego have kept hotel and living expenses within the reach of people of moderate means. Aside from the fair there are many things of great interest at San Diego among which might be mentioned the U. S. army aviation field—the finest in the world, the old Spanish light house, Spanish villages, etc. Flying machines of every type can be seen flitting about like great birds. Any venturesome person can take a flight if he chooses at $1 per minute while in the air. All classes of war craft lie in the bay from a battleship to a submarine and can be inspected. We were perhaps most interested in the submarine, which we saw in action both above and below water. There are a number of Utah people at San Diego among those whom we saw were Mr. and Mrs. Newbold, Mrs. George Hayball and parents, the Gilberts and Miss Genevieve Thatcher. They are all enjoying themselves and have taken to the people and climate as all

"THE OLD GUARD" AT NIBLEY HALL

Sixth Ward Mutual Dramatic Association Did Well in Its Work Tuesday Night

Every member of the cast in "The Old Guard" at Nibley Hall Tuesday night did himself proud in presenting Littlefield Marble's drama in three acts. There was a good audience and all present were well pleased with the performance. The funds derived from the sale of tickets was turned over to the Sixth ward chapel fund and upwards of $75 will be realized which will make a most acceptable gift. The members of the cast as well as the members of the committee, Mrs. N. A. Larsen and W. E. Ryberg are deserving of much praise for their commendable work.

The play will be presented Friday evening at Newton and Saturday evening at Clarkston. There is little question but the company will be well received.

The following persons are included in the cast:

Col. Danvers, leader of the Old Guard T. H. Cutler
Jos. Pendexter, an insurgent Joseph Otte
James Vilas, a Regular L. E. Nelson
Sammy, a bell boy Wm. Tate
Mrs. Danvers, Colonel's wife Mrs. Zina Hyde
Polly Danvers, Colonel's daughter Edith Ryberg
Cora Jones, a telephone girl Onelta Thorpe
Marie, a parlor maid May Muir
Time—The present.
Place—Capital of a New England State.
Costumes modern.
Theme—Political.

must do. We were delighted to happen on to Walter McLaughlin who was at San Diego on business connected with the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Since leaving Logan Mr. McLaughlin has suffered much with rheumatism in his feet and ankles. Even now he walks at times with great difficulty but is improving. His family are still at Berkeley.

Opening of San Francisco Fair

Leaving San Diego we arrived at San Francisco for the opening day of the great Panama Exposition. On the opening day from six to seven in the morning every conceivable thing from the guns at the forts put one in mind of a combined New Year's and Fourth of July celebration on a large scale. A holiday was declared and at 9 o'clock the townspeople marched amid cheers and brass bands to the fair grounds. A crowd of more than three hundred people had assembled. After President Wilson had by pressing a button at Washington at 10 o'clock set in motion the machinery and officially opened the fair the throngs just walked about the 640 acres in wonderment trying to grasp the magnificence of the great buildings, parks, fountains, gardens, statues and works of art which only genius had designed and executed. Thus the day passed until night when the entire grounds were illuminated and made as day with all the skill of which man is capable in the manipulation of electricity. The chief attraction was the Tower of Jewels which rose several hundred feet into the air. It was illuminated and gave various colors and shades from search lights on the bay so that it sparkled and appeared as if set with diamonds from top to bottom. The sight was certainly imposing. Later in the evening a great display of fireworks was made and again electrical effects were brought into play. That was a marvel to most of us. Thus the first day, passed off what will probably be the greatest fair ever held. Following the first day at the fair an examination of buildings and exhibits was begun by persons outside of San Francisco and in most instances is yet continuing by people with time and money. It is so great that when complete a month will be required to make but a superficial inspection say nothing of a study. The size of the exhibit buildings can be realized only when it is explained that they cover ground equal to a city block and are built in the air more than a hundred

EXHIBITION OF DANCING IS VERY POPULAR CARD

Women of U. A. C. Physical Education Department Stage Good Dancing Exhibition

The program of dancing given by the department of physical education of the U. A. C. Monday evening was largely attended and a decided success from all standpoints.

It was under the direction of Miss Mary E. Johnson, assisted by Miss Glenn Ballantyne with Enid Rosen-gren as pianist.

The butterflies, symbolizing the variety and fluttering of butterflies, was particularly well rendered. The feature of the evening, however was the "Ballet," a brief synopsis of which follows:

The scene opens amid the festivities of a modern ball room. The latest hesitations, fox trots, and one steps are being danced. A flirtation is carried on between the gentleman of one couple and the lady of another. At the finish of a dance the lady drops her handkerchief. The gentleman picks it up and seeks the girl but cannot find her, so returns to the ball room to muse over the handkerchief. He falls asleep. What follows is his dream in which the dream man finds himself transported to colonial days, where the stately minuet and gavotte are the ball room dances. He will not participate however, until his Dream Girl appears on the scene. As the clock strikes twelve, this gay company disappears and his dream ends. He awakens just in time to avoid the embarrassment of being found asleep by his friends.

APRIL TERM JURORS DRAWN

The following are the jurors for the April term:

A. H. Richards, Mendon.
Fred Speth, College.
John H. Davis, Logan.
Frank Harris, Logan.
James C. Jensen, Petersburg.
Neph K. Nelson, Richmond.
Edwin Small, Richmond.
Joseph Neves, Millville.
C. H. Rose, Hyrum.
John Johnson, Millville.
Fred Coburn, Wellsville.
John W. Jensen, Hyrum.
H. H. Peterson Jr., Hyrum.
Walter Thompson, Richmond.
A. L. Farrell, Smithfield.
George B. Pope, Lewiston.
A. B. Harrison, Logan.
B. G. Thatcher, Logan.
John Frankhauser, Logan.
Peter Johnson, Logan.
Garrett Dahle, Clarkston.
Lester Blair, Mt. Home.
Soren Poulsen, Providence.
James J. Meikle, Smithfield.

feet. The foreign buildings are yet unfinished for the most part and it is yet too early to forecast what their exhibits will amount to.

An exception to this is Canada which has a completed building and an exhibit which ranks with the best at the fair. One is certainly impressed with both the exhibit and the Canadians themselves who are in attendance in great numbers. It will probably be a month or more before the fair is complete. The cost of living and hotel accommodations at San Francisco has been boosted beyond justification and to such an extent that many people have cut short their stay and none are sparing in their denunciation. There has been made a feeble effort on the part of some papers of San Francisco to right this matter but little if any change is felt.

We saw Collins Fuller and family formerly of Logan. They are the same good hearted and whole souled friends to all Utah people. Mr. Fuller has a good position with the American National Bank and is highly respected. He wishes to be remembered to all his friends.

A SUBSCRIBER.

The farmers using the waters of the Cub river for irrigation purposes, diverting same in the vicinity of Franklin, contemplate the installation of a pumping station this spring.

GOVERNOR SIGNS FUNK LIQUOR BILL

Prohibits Shipments into Dry Territory Under Heavy Penalties. Effective in Sixty Days

Salt Lake, March 17.—Governor Spry took no action on the Wootton bill yesterday, but he signed the Funk bill prohibiting the shipment of liquor into dry territory. The governor spent a part of the day going over the prohibition bill and said that while he was making no promises, he expected to act on the prohibition bill within the next twenty-four hours.

Gov. William Spry signed Senate Bill No. 93 yesterday, which provides that after sixty days transporting of intoxicating liquor into dry territory shall be prohibited.

Senate Bill No. 93 was introduced by Senator J. W. Funk of Cache county and it reposed in the files of the Senate committee on agriculture and irrigation until the closing day of the Senate, when it was brought out by the committee on mining and substituted for House Bill No. 243. The House bill proposed that shipment of liquor into dry territory should be punished as a felony and when it came to the Senate it was found that objections there could be met by resurrecting the Funk bill and making the penalties more severe, to which the House agreed. The Funk bill was introduced in the Senate two years ago with penalties about half what they now are to be, and it was killed at that time.

Penalties for Violation

As in the bill stands it will go in effect in sixty days. Any person violating its provisions will be liable to a fine not to exceed $1000 or imprisonment not to exceed one year in the county jail. A corporation or a common carrier violating the law, will be subject to a fine of $500 to $1000 and a saloon keeper, liquor dealer, brewer or distiller will be liable also to forfeit his license.

Many persons who have been especially interested in the prohibition fight have expressed the belief that the signing of Senate bill 93 may be used as an argument for a veto for the state wide prohibition bill inasmuch as it would make the dry part of the state as dry as the most ardent prohibitionists might wish. On the other hand, it is pointed out that in case the governor signs the Wootton bill providing for state wide prohibition July 1, 1916, the new law approved yesterday by that time will have been more than a year in effect.

The signing of Senate bill 93 was regarded as the most important action of the governor yesterday.

THE MILLION DOLLAR MYSTERY

The final episode of "The Million Dollar Mystery" will be shown at the Lyric theater tomorrow (Friday) night. Those who followed that interesting serial story will remember that a prize of $10,000 was to be given to the person writing the best solution to the mystery thus furnishing the material for the completion of the story. Some one has solved the mystery and received the $10,000. Come to the theater tomorrow night and see the lucky person, and also learn the finish of one of the great serial stories ever published or put in motion pictures.

CACHE VALLEY DRY FARM

320 acres right on the main line. 200 acres in summer fallow wheat. 50 acres plowed for spring planting. 6 horses, harnesses and all the machinery desired; 4 room modern house. Improvements, machinery and land are in the very best condition. Ask for particulars, LaVere H. Daines, Logan, phone 467w.—Adv 3-20

Use our classified ads; they are real business getters.

MRS. MILLER LAID TO REST AT NEWTON

Bishop Rigby Presides at Services Held in Ward Meeting House

Newton, March 13.—The last sad rite over the remains of Mrs. Ida Jacobson Miller, were held in the ward house, Saturday at 1 o'clock, presided over by Bishop M. C. Rigby. The choir sang "Thou Deepening Trials." Invocation was offered by Elder R. Amos Dowdle and the choir sang: "Sister Thou Wast Mild and Lovely."

The speakers were Elders John E. Griffin, Dr. T. B. Budge, Bishop Yeppa Benson of Weston, Idaho; C. M. Christensen of Logan; and Bishop M. C. Rigby. All bore strong testimonies of the worth and character of the departed.

Mr. Carl Jensen of Wyoming rendered: "What Voice Salutes the Starling Air," a duet "Nearer My God to Thee," was rendered by Fred Fredrickson and Carl Jensen.

The choir sang, "I Have Read of a Beautiful City." Benediction was pronounced by Elder Lorenzo Larson. The pall bearers were: Pearl Jenkins, Wilford Jenkins, John Benson, Leland Benson, Ezra Benson and Jesse Barker. The floral tributes were many and beautiful bearing mute testimony of the love and esteem of a host of sorrowing friends who filled the house to overflowing to pay respects to the departed and they who were called to mourn. The girls who bore the flowers were the Misses Norma Benson, Hazel Benson, Sylvia Benson, Ethel Benson, Esther Benson, Maud Barker, Hattie Jenkins, Edna Benson, Mildred Benson, Myrtle Benson and Blanche Hill.

A long cortege of vehicles followed the remains to the city cemetery where interment took place. Elder Lars Jacobson of Logan dedicating the grave.

While we mourn that one so young and beautiful so full of promise and aspiration should be called from our midst yet we feel to bow before the will of an allwise Creator who doeth all things well for in Him there is eternal life and the hope of a glorious resurrection.

JACOB PETERSON FUNERAL HELD

Many Attend Services in Sixth Ward Chapel Yesterday Afternoon

Many friends and relatives of Jacob Peterson who died on Friday at the age of 73, after a lingering illness, attended the funeral services held in the Sixth ward chapel yesterday afternoon. There were many words of comfort and cheer spoken to the bereft family. Jacob Peterson was born in Denmark, and came to Utah in 1891. For some time he was a farmer in this valley and later was manager of the Sixth ward store opposite the meeting house which he successfully conducted until a year ago when he disposed of his holdings. He is survived by a wife, and five daughters, three of whom are married.

The speakers at the services yesterday were Emil Hansen, Bishop N. P. Johnson, Leon Fennesbeck and Bishop O. F. Rice.

A solo was rendered by Frank Baugh. The ward choir also furnished appropriate music.

MARRIAGE LICENSE

Marriage licenses have been procured from the county clerk's office as follows:

Hokan Hokanson, Thayne, Wyoming; Sarah A. Van Orden, Afton Wyoming.

Julius Gamble, Franklin; Florence Mary Johnson, Preston.

Daniel E. Robertson, Byron California; Jettie Watkins, Knoxville, Tenn.

Anyone wishing to sell thorough bred eggs or baby chicks will reach the public by an ad in The Logan Republican.